BODY OF MAN FOUND NUDE AND MUTILATED IN GUADA LUPE RIVER THURSDAY

SAN ANTONIO, April 10. _(AP)_With the abdomen ripped open and filled with rocks to weight it down, the body of J. W. Bradshaw, bridegroom of a month, was found in the Guadalupe river near Waring, 40 miles from San Antonio, today. One eye had been shot out.

The body was brought to the surface with grappling hooks used by a searching party headed by Sheriffs Alfonso Newton of Bexar county and Ed Bierschwale of Kendali county.

Homer Edwards and Ernest Young, escaped patients from the state hospital, were held in the Kendall county jail at Boerne where they were taken following their arrest here. Sheriff Bierschwale and his deputy, Otto Garger, who were leading the searching party, first found Bradshaw's clothing, rolled up in a small clump of bushes. Several yards distant, Karger came upon a blood-smeared pieces of tin. Peering into the clear waters of the stream, he and Bierschwale saw the body. Bradshaw had been shot over the left eye. The abdomen had been slit, apparently with a piece of tin, and had been stuffed with large rocks to keep it from floating.

Births Are Rapid.

Based on past records, it is estimated that there is one birth every thirteen seconds, a death every twenty-three seconds, while an immigrant arrives every ninety seconds and an emmigrant departs every 330 seconds. Based on these figures, the population of the United States is increased by one every twenty-three seconds.

Speaking of some of the Intimate questions asked by the census enumerators, it has been pointed out by census officials that the answers to the questions in the census will be kept secret, no one having access to your answers for at least 50 years. The census enumerators are under oath not to disclose any information which is given them, and to do so would result in a fine and imprisonment for the census taker.

When a community has been enumerated, the figures will be released from the district headquarters here for publication, Mr. Dupuy stated Thursday, and then six days will elapse in which time anyone within the district is urged to write or telephone the census headquarters here if they have not been enumerated and an enumerator will be sent to the place to secure the work. N. Suttle Roberts presented the dairying program of the chamber of commerce and the results of the efforts made during the past year. An analysis of the situation a year ago showed that the milk production was little more than enough to supply the local demands and that a milk plant was inadvisable; impassable roads in bad weather also hindered the establishment of a plant.

Monthly sales of milk are now approximately $3.000, he declared.

He paid tribute to R. L. Harris of Blooming Grove as one of the hardest working and most forward looking workers in the dairying industry in the Southwest. Barry, he seid, had a milk route that brought the surplus into Corsicana each day.

MOODY OPTIMISTIC OVER FUTURE ROAD BUILDING TEXAS

AUSTIN, April 8.—(IP)—Alloiments to Texas from the federal government for highways would permit Texas to do construction equal to building 800 miles of concrete roads during the next three years, Governor Moody said today, in pointing out that his administration was probably entitled to some credit for the existing amicable relations with the federal bureau of roads.

to enouse a SIX:

After all, it is a perfectly simple matter to decide which automobile to buy. Only two questions must be answered to your satisfaction—

First: Which car gives the most for my money?

Second: Which car represents the soundest investment in satisfaction and pride of ownership?

In buying a low-priced car consider the following facts:

It is wise to choose a six-cylinder Six-Cylinder Motor motor-for six-cylinders are necessary to take out vibration and roughness. Six-cylinder smoothness will save the motor, the whole chassis, the body, the passengers, and the driver.

The Chevrolet is a six. And yet it sells at a price that anyone can afford to pay.

This very low-priced car lasts longer, not only because of fine materials and oversize parts, but also because it is a six. Its big, smooth, 50-horsepower six-cylinder engine is always "taking it easy." There is no feeling of strain.

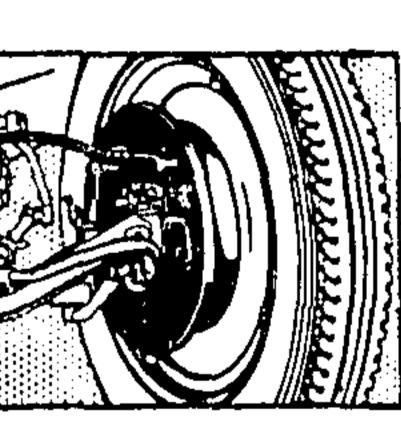

With all its six-cylinder smoothness and power the New Chevrolet Six uses no extra gasoline or oil. Efficient design makes this possible—overhead valves—high compression power from any fuel— Fully Enclosed Brakes very latest high-acceleration carburetor—close-fitting, long-wearing pistons crankcase ventilation—air cleaner. You can really have extreme economy and still satisfy your ideal of truly modern transportation.

Chevrolet economy is also the mark of Chevrolet sincerity in manufacture. To illustrate:

Chevrolet valves are readily accessible and adjustable. This saves replacing valves, and also makes it possible to preserve efficiency.

A similar example is found in Chevrolet's molded brake lining-reducing the necessity of frequent replacement, and consequent expense.

There is just as much extra value everywhere in the car. BY ANY STANDARD of comparison the Chevrolet Six is the greatest value in the low-price field.

Running Squarely Counter to Our Day's Mood, Jesus Exalted Child-likeness and Sincerity and Teachableness — A Wonderful New Etching.

There is now on exhibition in Chasing the Oldest Bubble.

Religion ran much to argument among the Jews of Jesus' day. Professional dialetics were the favorite indoor sport of the scribes and the Pharisees. They were keen debaters, and subtle as sin. When Jesus entered public life, these smart theologians were forever trying to trip and trap Him. In the present lesson, they sought to catch Him by the favorite old question, "Who is greatest in the kingdom of heaven"

That is a fascinating inquiry. Granting a belief in immortality, it may become a life's major interest. Even the disciples squabbled over it. To win heaven and high honor there, is a quest that easily intrigues serious minds.

Honor and preeminence are natural prizes. Everybody nurses some claim to distinction—even though it be but the agricusness of a surgical operation, or remote kinship to one whose name is often in print. Broadway, and all that it represents, are built upon this vanity. I overheard a mature man, a college graduate, boasting the other day that he had attended a night club where one of the guests was a notorious gambler who had recently been acquitted of a charge night club where one of the guests was a notorious gambler who had recently been acquitted of a charge of murder! Florida, where I am writing at this moment, is full of gorgous hotels charging scandalous prices, which people patronize for the sake of the distinction and "exclusiveness" which they—silly sheep!— think they buy. The pride of preeminence is a besetting sin of this vanity-drunk generation. It of preeminence is a besetting sin of this vanity-drunk generation. It was an old, and very human query, that the proud theologians put to Jesus... Who is greatest?"

Using the Wrong Yardstick.

Teaching by an object-lesson. Jesus called one of His bright-eyed little friends to Him, and set the child in the central place. Then He startled His over-sophisticated questioners by disregarding their conventional methods of measurement and by setting up an entire new staudard: "Except ye be converted, and become as little children, ye shall not enter the king-ment and by setting up an entire new standard: "Except ye be converted, and become as little children and the setting up an entire new standard: "Except ye be converted, and become as little children and the setting up an entire new standard: "Except ye be converted, and become as little children and include the professionally pious men that they had a first mortgage on heaven." Their only concern was about their prepared their to get into the the setting and single convergence of the setting and single convergence of the setting to the convergence of the setting to the part even to get into heaven. He openly challenged their right of entry. They would have to the change of the blessed. Their rags of self-righteousness and pride would have to the change of the setting to the convergence of the setting to the

It is not the wind-blown hair or the sheer human geniality of the central Figure that arrests the eye, so much as the fact that a group of little children are making free with the Master, as He addresses a company of shrewd and watchful turbaned men.

Cne child behind his back is tugging at His hands; another has clasped His ankle and is peeping rougishly from beneath the fold of His cloak; a third, in front, is trying to embrace Him around the waist. No picture of Jesus ever moved me more strongly.

Once we pause to consider, it becomes clear that the little children hust have swarmed about this their best Friend. Of course, they took liberties with Him, tugging and pulling at Him, and clamoring for attention, as children always do with those whom they love. The character of Jesus may not be rightly appraised unless we realize that the children loved Him and that He loved them.

When keen-eyed Matthew remarked, concerning Jesus and the children, that "He laid His hands on them" I doubt if he was reporting the sort of ecclesiastical benediction that we church folk have pictured to ourselves. Probably Jesus merely patted childish heads affecionately, or rumpled the boy's hair, or toyed with them, as Mr. Sullivan's great picture intimates.

TULSA, Okla., April 10. —(P)— Accused as the leader of a whiskey ring which marketed in Tulsa large quantities of liquor, from Latimer county moonshine plants, P. M. Paul, 40, former mayor of Wilburton, Latimer county, was arrested today by police and held for federal authorities, Four other men are held as members of the ring.

Bristow, the son, former Oklahoma football star, journeyed by airplane to Tepic two weeks ago to negotiate with the bandits for the ransom. The elder Bristow had gone to Mexico to look over a zinc mine he had purchased in the state of Nayarit.

Observers gathered that the situation amounted to this: France and Italy were being invited diplomatically to come to a decision as to participation in a five power pact.

Horned Frog Track Team Meets Cowboys Fort Worth Saturday

FORT WORTH, April 10,—(Spl).
—The Texas Christian University thinly clads will engage in their second dual meet of the season Saturday afternoon in Fort Worth with the Simmons University Cowboys of Abliene. This meet is a non-conference affair, but will be hotly contested as the two teams are evenly matched. Both clubs lost in dual meets last week. The Frogs were defeated by Rice Owls and Simmons lost to the Denton Teachers.

and Simmons lost to the Denton Teachers.

The Horned Frog track team, although stronger than it has even been before, is still a little short or the standard set by the other conference teams. For this reason the meet with Simmons will probably be won or lost by a small margin. The Frogs are strong in the dashes, hurdles and weights, while the Cowboys should get most of their points in middle distance and distance races, and the jumps and pole vault.

The Horned Frogs have sure point-getters in Leland, Oliver and Salkold. Red Oliver is proving the most versatile man on the squad. He con place close behind Leland in the 100 and 220, and in the meet with Rice he won the high and low hurdle and the high jump. Salkold speciolizes in the shot and discus.

KERENS, April 10.—(Spl).—The famous two-toed wolf of East Navarro is still at large, regardless of the run made every Saturday night and Tuesday by our wolf hunters come here from other parts of the country and have a chase but it is the same old story and after about eight or ten hours' chase "Two-Toe" will make her rounds among the poultry raisers.

Jack Speed of this place was compelled to give up raising sheep and goats on his ranch four miles east of here on account of these wolves. Mr. Speed formerly raised some of the finest sheep and goats to be found anywhere, as his ranch is one of the best in the country, and said he would contin-ue to raise them if it were not for wolves, but his ranch runs hito the hills they use as their hang out.

The farmers of East Navarro have lost a considerable lot of pigs, poultry and young calves from the wolves and this was the reason they organized the "Kerens Wolf Club" and offered a reward of $25 cach female wolf and $10 for for each female wolf and $10 for each male and pay the rewards as soon as the wolf is brought in, re-gardless of who is the captor, and gardless of who is the captor, and how many he has.

The wolves were thought to have abandoned their old haunts and left here until a few weeks ago when they again began to make raids on the farmers' hen roosts.

There have only been eight or ten killed in the last two years. The ewards for them still stands and gladly paid by the Wolf Club then they are brought in.

Emhouse Parents And Teacher Body Met on Thursday

ent-Teacher association met Thursday in regular session and a short program was given. We were delighted to have with us Mrs. Raymond Robbins of Athens, who is our district president. Mrs. Robbins addressed the association on the work that the organization is doing in our district.

The poem, "Home" by Edgar A. Guest, was read by Miss Annie Rose Boyd, accompanied with piano music by Miss Corinne Williams.

The following paper was read by Mrs. C. D. Owen.

"What Work and Play do for the Child." I shall speak of these two agencies in the life of the child separately. While I believe the two must be combined to be most effective in their influence on the child, each is important, taken alone. ent-Teacher association met Thurs alone.

Beginning with the pre-school child, now-a-days we are prone to feel that no task should be assigned to him at home. But any primary teacher will tell you that the child, who has been allowed to perform work at home which would exercise and develop the hand muscles, is the child who will most easily learn to write and draw. The child whose muscles are lax and utterly undeveloped will have difficulty in learning to write or to draw.

and utterly undeveloped will have difficulty in learning to write or to draw.

We should judicially require each of our children to be responsible for simple tasks at home, thus developing their sense of duty to their parents and to one another. Work should be made attractive and the child should be trained to believe the performance of their charge to be a privilege instead of an obligation. It is necessary for any child to learn to regard the right of others and it is to the sacred duty of every parent to so teach that child, that he realizes, it is through work he will travel the glorious pathway to real achievements and true greatness. It does no good to the child to refer to the wonderful work their fathers, grandfathers and past great. to the wonderful work their fathers' grandfathers and past great men have accomplished. He is interested in the work of the moment the especial task which is his to do, and it is up to you and to me, as parents and teachers, to see that the work the child is doing is instructive and constructive so that he may develop into the citizen of which our country is so much in need.

As I said in the beginning, work and play can be most efficiently interwoven, But a child should not 3. p. m.

or which our country is so much in need.

As I said in the beginning, work and play can be most efficiently interwoven. But a child should not be taught that all work is play, nor should be forced to play so strenuously that he shall come to regard all play as work. A harmy strenuously that he shall come to regard all play as work. A happy medium is desired in which the true sense of play shall be allowed to remain uppermost and still leave (a wholesome attitude toward work Play is an absolute necessity and it is criminal to neglect our child's play life.

udents of child nature have Students of child nature have said that the playground is the laboratory where citizenship is in the making. In play the child learns ideals which are, in the final analysis, citizenship ideals; he learns health, happiness, and clearliness, and that very important phase of character, politness. Play brings the child in close touch with others, developes his determination ers, developes his determination, and causes him to gain the power of inhibition, restraint and self-and causes him to gain the power of inhibition, restraint and self-control.

In teaching the child the right spirit of play, we are implanting in him a sense of fair mindedness, the principle of "given and take."

And how absolutely essential it is that the child learn these things there are few of us realize until it is too late for us to have a hand in forming of our child's ideals.

We should never attempt to teach a child to play alone, only. Team-play inwhich he shares his play with his fellows, teaches him play with his fellows, teaches him for the good of his whole group. When a child has learned in play to say, "We did thus," instead of "I did," then he is beginning to learn the meaning of the golden rule. He is forming the foundation of character which will be a valuable asset in becoming an upright, honorable citizen of the community in which he lives. REPORTER.

The suit was based on a statement included in the keynote speech of M. M. Crane of Dallas before the state democratic convention in 1924, when the Ku Klux Klan was a vital issue in Texas politics.
